THE ROSEATE OUTLOOK FOR SILVER

THE price of silver may be deemed by the casual observer to simply represent the greater or less debasement of the white metal as compared with the standard value, gold, which is never changing. A few cents, however, in appreciation or depreciation, means millions of dollars to Tonopah in the course of a year. There is a certain point below which silver, if unassociated with other products, cannot descend in price without making it unprofitable to mine and mill. One might imagine that further depreciation in the value of the metal would work a serious hardship upon Tonopah. It undoubtedly would if it forced a cessation of work.

That, however, is unlikely even with a decrease to far below the present figure, for let it be remembered that Tonopah is not distinctively a silver camp. Its ores carry a very considerable proportion of gold. One mine in particular has ores that run much better than eighty per cent of gold, while the general average for the district is now about 40 per cent.

Tonopah, moreover, is not forced to mill its highgrade rock at a time when silver is in the doldrums. It can keep its mills busy with a lower grade, which will retain the organization of its companies and at the same time afford a profit, while development may proceed on even a greater scale and thus place the properties in position to make their shareholders happy whenever the price of silver is such that the white metal will pay the cost of production and leave the gold values for velvet money for the shareholders.

Events are working out across the water which will shortly place silver at a ratio of twenty to one. The lack of subsidiary coinage there is already severely felt. Paper money must soon be retired, for it will be as unsought as Confederate promises to pay after the march through Georgia. The old world has still plenty of gold. Russia and India have hundreds of millions in hiding and they must be brought forth and sent to the United States in exchange for silver bullion. It is a case now of sitting tight and profit will come before long. The American silver dollar now is the standard for the world. It has forced the English sovereign down to its lowest figure in history for exchange, while the French franc is now worth only 16 2-3 cents instead of its customary 19 3-4. Silver, American silver, is sitting easy today despite the temporary slump. Tonopah, the premier silver mining camp in the world, should make ready to improve the chances it possesses by entering upon the heaviest campaign of development in its history.

DAWN OF THE DAY OF AWAKENING

NEVADA won practically everything in sight with its exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition, but it was not expected that it would fare so well as it did at San Diego. The long list of awards at the latter exposition is recognition of the assets of this state and advertisement of the opportunities it affords. Before long there will be serious attention paid to Nevada in the east as a commonwealth of opportunity, but the circumstances do not yet justify any influx in population and investment money.

The circumstances aforesaid consist in a state government that is lacking in advertising qualities. It seems to be constituted somewhat after the Tonopah pattern, the executive authority here, as well as the legislative, being concerned principally in drawing salaries instead of working for the benefit of the town. It is a sad state of affairs when three fellows without a single quality to recommend them, two of whom are absentees, essay to conduct a town government. Happily they are on the verge of removal from their positions and a government will be formed that will be representative of Tonopah and its interests. Then the town will forge ahead. The state may then take cognizance of the new Tonopah system and secure some of the advantages which its potentialities justify.

HOW PROSPERITY IS UNDERMINED

A TARIFF LAW that teaches Americans to buy European goods weakens the foundations of permanent prosperity in the United States. If Americans made all goods bought by Americans there would be no need to turn to the export business for relief from war depression. If the union were complete, financially and commercially, the United States and Latin America could laugh at the threats of the warriors of Europe.

There is less need of tariff protection against South and Central America than against any European country, because the products of Latin America seldom compete with those of the United States and the wage scale is more on a parity with the scale that prevails in the United States. But it is clear, in any event, that the markets of the United States and South America are the richest in the world and that these countries are, and ought to be, independent of Europe.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

RECENT events have shed new light on the practice of selling American products at one price at home and at another price abroad. A few years ago there was much criticism of some manufacturing concerns which, in order to keep men employed and factories running full capacity, produced more goods than the home market would absorb and sold the surplus abroad at a reduced price. The reduced price was necessary in order to sell the goods in competion with the foreign producer. Now, it appears, the United States Steel corporation is selling much of its product abroad at higher prices than received at home. In the former instance, as at present, the foreign sales gave employment to American labor and furnished a market for American raw material. Formerly, the American manufacturer had to undersell his foreign competitor in the foreign market. Now the European war has cut off competition. In the days when the surplus product was marketed at a cut abroad, the wage earner received no less than he does today. All of which is food for thought among men who are interested in the problem of finding a job for the American workman whether a war is raging in Europe or not.

CHINESE GOVERNMENT STRIVING TO SUPPRESS THE TRAFFIC IN OPIUM

PEKING, Aug. 12.—In and around the coast provinces of China, the suppression of opium traffic by the Chinese government officials has been effected so thoroughly that the opium dealers are flocking in increasing numbers under the protection of the foreign settlement in Shanghai, but even there the dealers are finding their activities restricted. The missionary element and other reformers have hit upon one rather novel campaign for suppression by lottery. The taxpayers in Shanghai voted in favor of the scheme, and a lottery or drawing was recently held for the purpose of selecting out of the 530 opium dealers in the territory 145 who should give up the opium business.

The North China News, describing the drawing, says:

"The drawing was conducted on a platform, and the people, whose fortunes were temporarily or permanently at stake, stood earnestly scrutinizing every move in the procedure. Great care was, of course, taken to ensure accuracy in drawing and recording numbers, and the Chinese who held up the ball as it came from the machine were careful to let it be seen between his thumb and finger, and to have his long sleeves well rolled back. The proceedings were conducted without a hitch, the drawing being completed within an hour."

ANNOUNCEMENT

The following prices for the Ford, effective August 2, 1915:

Ford Runabout	$390.00
Ford Touring Car	440.00
Ford Town Car	640.00

No speedometer included in this year's equipment. Dealer's price full, shipped.

There can be no assurance given against an advance in these prices at any time. We guarantee, however, that there will be no reduction in these prices prior to August 1, 1916.

Profit-Sharing with Retail Buyers

On August 1, 1914, we made the announcement that if we could make and sell at retail 500,000 Ford cars between Aug. 1, 1914, and Aug. 1, 1915, we would share profits with retail purchasers to the extent of from $40 to $60 on each car.

We have sold over 200,000 Ford cars in the time specified, and profit-sharing checks of $50 each will be distributed as rapidly as possible after August 15, 1915. Retail purchasers who have not yet mailed us their profit-sharing coupons, properly endorsed, should do so without delay.

Our plan to profit-share with retail purchasers of Ford cars during 1914-15 has been most successful. We thoroughly believe in it, but, realizing the uncertainty of conditions generally makes it advisable to defer any announcement of future profit-sharing until a later date.

We are, however, confident of our inability to reduce costs for several months, and therefore can offer no profit-sharing for cars delivered during August, September and October, 1915.

Good service creates confidence. That quality cannot, however, be created in a day. It comes through a process of evolution. Here a little and there a little. A little courtesy today. A little attention tomorrow. Service does not come from the right performance of one or two things. It is the performance of many things, with the whole tenor of the store and its organization being bent in the direction of satisfying and pleasing customers.
